First Nations Entry Application Process Application Form for 2024 Entry

First Nations Entry Application Process

The First Nations Entry Application Process aims to support students who are of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander descent to study medicine. Charles Darwin University has specific places for First Nations students and provides additional supports to match the individual's needs.

Note: In addition to completing and submitting this form, the online SATAC application should also be completed by the closing date.

Please also provide your high school transcripts together with this form.

The decision to offer you a position will be made based on your overall performance in high school, your personal statement (section 2 of this form) and a focused interview (available both in person and online).

Please complete the following form and send to foh@cdu.edu.au together with copies of your high school transcripts.

If you need assistance filling in the form, please contact us at this same email address.
